

Reference Letter for Andrei Alexandru

11 December 2025

To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to provide this reference for Andrei Ciprian Alexandru, with whom I worked closely on several R&D projects at RLB. During our collaboration, Andrei consistently demonstrated the qualities of a highly capable and thoughtful engineer.

Andrei quickly took ownership of complex work and delivered consistently strong results. His contributions spanned AI and machine learning development, including Python data pipelines, research tasks, LLM and agent-based prototypes, and governance activities related to the EU AI Act. He has a strong ability to translate ambiguous requirements into practical, working solutions.

Beyond his technical skills, Andrei is a genuine pleasure to work with. He communicates clearly, listens actively, and brings a collaborative spirit to every project. He works effectively both independently and within cross-functional teams, adapting his approach to what the situation requires. His input improved the quality and efficiency of several internal workflows.

What sets Andrei apart is his proactive mindset and intellectual curiosity. He does not wait to be told what to do; he identifies opportunities and acts on them. He approaches new challenges with enthusiasm and professionalism, always eager to learn and improve.

I believe Andrei would be an excellent addition to any team seeking a reliable, adaptable engineer with solid technical grounding and strong interpersonal skills. I recommend him without hesitation.

Kind regards,

Huseyn Gorbani
